Presentation for today's meeting...

- A 90 minute lecture on the importance of volunteering in your local OWASP chapter.

- Seriously, we need people willing to demo tools and tricks of the trade to help others get up to speed.

Real topic today: OWASP WTE

Hot off the press - free training with CPE credits

WhiteHat Security is offering free online security bootcamps (4 hours each) with CPE credits.

Secure Web Development Overview:

Tuesday, January 13, 2015 at 10am PST

Ideal for people getting started in web security. The most current security breaches are discussed and put into context, along with demonstrations.

Hot off the press - free training

.NET Security Bootcamp:

Tuesday, February 10, 2015 at 10am PST

Microsoft's ASP.NET is popular for building scalable web applications, but also suffers from vulnerabilities that are often exploited. We will discuss protection for both Webforms and .NET MVC, together with standard and third party security libraries.

Hot off the press - free training

Java Security Bootcamp:

Tuesday, March 10, 2015 at 10am PST

Java is commonly used to create robust web applications, but it suffers from many known vulnerabilities. We discuss mechanisms to secure applications such as authentication, access control, input validation, contextual encoding, using encryption properly, secure password storage and many more.
